

Science in Focus

In a series of lessons students in Pre Primary investigated how important it is for animals including humans to use all senses to stay alive.

← Students' task was to identify an item without using the sense of sight.

Students in Year 1 have shown keen things such as small animals have a and live in different places where their were delighted to study the earthworms curiosity about how living variety of external features needs are met. Students from the school worm farm and also snails found in the school garden.

While exploring the growth and change of a range of living things Year2 students were especially curious about changes to themselves and class members as they took part in a gallery walk viewing baby photographs.

A variety of specimens used by Year 3 students to develop classification systems to try to understand the diversity of life.

Having learnt about the vital role of bees in the process of 'from flower to fruit' students in Year 4 had the opportunity to examine and draw cross sections of flowers and fruit.

The topic 'Desert Survivors' enabled students to look at various adaptations found in plants and animals .

